INTRODUCTION

The Access to Information Act gives Canadian citizens as well as people and corporations present in Canada the right to have access to federal government records that are not of a personal nature. The Act complements but does not replace other procedures for obtaining government information. It is not intended to limit in any way the access to government information that is normally available to the public upon request.

The Sept-Îles Port Authority became a Canadian Port Authority under the provisions of the Canada Marine Act on May 1, 1999.

The Sept-Îles Port Authority, benefiting from the natural advantages of the Bay of Sept-Îles, has the mission to remain an important development agent, by providing adequate installations and by dispensing efficient services in a partnership association and with a sustainable development approach.

This report is prepared in accordance with section 72 of the Access to Information Act.

The Annual Reports are tabled in Parliament in accordance with section 72 of the Access to Information Act.
